

TO POST COTTON STATISTICS.

Census Department to have Figures Ginnings, Stock on Hand, and Quantity Consumed Monthly.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.—The arrangements made by Hon. Wm. J. Harris, Director of the Census, for the wider distribution of statistics collected by his office concerning the quantity of cotton ginned, the quantity of cotton consumed monthly, and the stocks of cotton on hand at the end of each month, has met with general approval throughout the cotton-growing states.

He has received numerous suggestions concerning a still wider distribution of these statistics, and he has made arrangements with the Postmaster General to allow the postmasters in every post office in counties where cotton is grown to post in a conspicuous place copies of the reports containing statistics of cotton. These copies will be printed on extra large cards, so the figures can be easily read. Mr. Harris hopes that in this manner he will be able to give the farmers, and all others, access to the valuable statistics collected by this bureau. Heretofore the reports have been given by the bureau of the Census to newspaper representatives and to the different telegraph companies for distribution. Following this distribution copies of the reports have been mailed to the ginner, manufacturers, and warehouse men, but there has been no practical method devised for the distribution of the information directly to the farmers. It is Mr. Harris's purpose to give the statistics to the farmers so they can take advantage of the information collected by the Federal Government.

SIMS REPLIES TO BLEASE.

Orangeburg Editor Says Blease Charge Made in Anderson a "Dirty Lie."

In his address in the court house at Anderson Saturday, Gov. Blease paid his respects to Editor Sims of the Orangeburg Times and Democrat saying that he did not see how Senator Tillman could nominate Sims for United States marshal in the face of the fact that Sims had to get an affidavit showing that he had not edited a negro paper in radical times. In the last issue of his paper, Editor Sims, under the head of "Drag up an old lie" replies to the governor's charge in the following warm article: "In his harangue at Anderson on Saturday Governor Blease turned his slush gun loose on the editor of The Times and Democrat, who, he said, had to get affidavits after being recommended for marshal, 'that he was not editing a negro paper in radical times.' Even Governor Blease will have to admit that those affidavits, as he calls them, knocked out completely that dirty lie, which was started by one of his pliant tools and from which we have been informed the governor had expected great things in the fight to prevent this editor from being appointed marshal.

"It will be remembered that both Senator Epps and Sheriff Graham denied making such a charge about us. On the contrary, both of them said they had spoken only in complimentary terms of us, which shows that the vile lie that we had edited a negro paper in radical times was concocted by a fellow who bears a most unsavory reputation wherever he is known. He is said to be a pliant tool of Governor Blease, and that is the reason we suppose the governor referred to this dirty lie in his harangue at Anderson. We are ready for any other lies that Governor Blease or any of the men that do his dirty work can start on us.

"Governor Blease hates The Times and Democrat and its editor because Orangeburg county repudiated him last summer, and will lose no opportunity to hit them both. We do not complain of this, as we intend to show up his record and let the people know what manner of man he is, and thus try and beat him worse next summer in this county than he was beaten last summer. All we ask is that he stick to the truth. Governor Blease seems to think that it is a crime for a man to get up affidavits to squelch a dirty lie that may be put in circulation about him, but at the same time the governor, would no doubt be glad if he could get some affidavits to prove that some things that have been said about him are not true."
